April 2013 Eco-Home Bulletin

Hello from Eco-Home,

Thank you to any newly registered Eco-Home participants. Remember to complete your Eco-Home survey and use the Eco-Home action plans and tips that suggested to make environmental improvements to your home.

Our Eco-Home website has advice on becoming more sustainable, money saving ideas, and all the latest Eco-Home news. We update the website on a regular basis so please visit often to see what's new.

This month:

- Read about our work with Belfast Metropolitan College
- Visit our Facebook page and follow us on Twitter @EcoHomeNI
- Listen to our Eco-Home householder's interview on 'On Your Behalf' available to download as a podcast from Radio Ulster's website.

Beth and Thomas Dunbar, Eco-Home enthusiasts, discuss the merits of being an environmentally friendly Eco-Home household with Dr Ian Humphreys, TIDY Northern Ireland CEO and Linda McAuley of BBC Radio Ulster's 'On Your Behalf'.

If you are part of a community group, school, business or organisation why not get others involved in the Eco-Home programme? We always welcome new members!

We are delighted Apex Housing Association are promoting Eco-Home to their tenants, pictured are: Myles McIlwee, Senior Housing Officer Apex Housing Association; Charlie McDaid, Community Involvement Officer Apex Housing Association; Elaine Curley, Eco-Home Project Officer; Glen Livingston, Apex tenant.

Organisations we have already been working with are: Belfast Metropolitan College; Ikea Belfast; Apex Housing Association; Eco-Schools; and many more. Over the coming weeks we would love to add more organisations; you can email info@eco-homeni.org or visit our membership page to learn more.

Upcoming events and meetings:

The Eco-Home team will be holding information stalls at these events in the coming weeks -

- Spring Fair at Barnett's Demesne on Saturday 20th and Sunday 21st April 2013 1.30pm – 5.30pm.
- Queen's University Belfast Student's Union on Tuesday 23rd April 2013.
